Transition from Early Intervention to Early Childhood Special Education: What Parents Need to Know

EVENTS | WORKSHOPS | TRAININGS | WEBINARS

MONDAY, APRIL 8TH | 12:00 PM

If a child is receiving services in an early intervention program, the child may qualify to receive services in early childhood special education. This transition from early intervention to early childhood special education can be an exciting time as it marks growth and new opportunities. Parents may have questions about what will happen during the transition as well as questions about early childhood special education. In this webinar, a description of early childhood special education and the transition process and what parents and families need to know will be provided.
