Coaching Facilitators to Maximize Virtual Therapy Sessions

Buy-in and knowledge of the facilitator is just as important as engagement of the student for a successful virtual therapy session. Whether it is a parent, other family member, child care provider, etc., these individuals are instrumental in assisting the therapist during sessions. During this hour, we will discuss coaching strategies to support the facilitators and help them feel empowered to assist the student in achieving his/her therapy goals.

July 22

Interactive Activities to Keep Students Engaged During Virtual Therapy Sessions

This lunch hour discussion will be full of interactive ideas that will hold the student's attention in order to increase engagement and participation. We will highlight the favorite activities from SLPs, OTs, and PTs currently providing virtual therapies and invite participants to share their own favorite ideas as well.
